Khamenei mourns Iran minister's death

Iran's Supreme Leader Khamenei mourns Intelligence Minister Khatib's killing, urging officials to reinforce security and resilience as US-Israeli strikes continue targeting top Iranian leadership

TEHRAN

In Tehran, Iran's Supreme Leader Mojtaba Khamenei expressed condolences over the killing of Intelligence Minister Esmail Khatib, addressing President Masoud Pezeshkian and urging officials to intensify efforts to safeguard national security. Iranian state media reported that Khamenei emphasised the need for resilience, stating that the loss of key figures must be offset through stronger commitment by officials within sensitive institutions.

The statement followed reports by the Israel Defense Forces claiming responsibility for Khatib's death in a targeted strike in Tehran. Israeli authorities alleged that Khatib had played a significant role in suppressing protests during the Mahsa Amini protests and was involved in intelligence operations against Israeli and American interests. Iran has not independently verified all aspects of these claims but confirmed the minister's death.

Further compounding tensions, Iranian media also reported the killing of Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps spokesperson Ali Mohammad Naeini in joint US-Israeli strikes. These developments come amid a series of high-profile assassinations targeting Iran's leadership following the death of Ali Khamenei in late February. Other senior figures, including Ali Larijani and Gholamreza Soleimani, have also reportedly been killed in recent strikes.

President Pezeshkian condemned the attacks as "cowardly," expressing grief over the loss of key officials while asserting that their mission would continue. Meanwhile, Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi maintained that Iran's political system remains robust, stressing that institutional strength ensures continuity despite the loss of individual leaders.

Iran vows stability after strikes

In Tehran, Iran's Supreme Leader Mojtaba Khamenei expressed condolences over the killing of Intelligence Minister Esmail Khatib, urging officials to strengthen security and compensate for the loss of key figures. Israel claimed responsibility, linking Khatib to the Mahsa Amini protests crackdown and intelligence operations abroad. President Masoud Pezeshkian condemned the attacks as cowardly, promising continuity. Other senior officials, including IRGC spokesperson Ali Mohammad Naeini, were also killed. Iran asserts its political system remains robust despite escalating leadership losses and regional tensions.

IDF Strikes Syria Following Attacks On Druze

TEL AVIV

The Israeli Defence Forces (IDF) confirmed overnight strikes in southern Syria targeting a command centre and military equipment in response to attacks on Druze civilians in the As-Suwayda region. The IDF, in a post on X, stated it "will not tolerate harm to the Druze people" and will continue to act for their protection, closely monitoring developments and responding according to political directives.

The strikes focused on Syrian regime military camps and infrastructure linked to recent aggression against the Druze community. Israeli media, including the Jerusalem Post, reported that Syrian internal security forces were hit with mortar shells, followed by the mobilisation of heavily armed groups from the National Guard Druze paramilitary force in As-Suwayda.

The Druze are an ethnoreligious minority living mainly in Syria and Lebanon, with around 104,000 in Israel, including approximately 18,000 in the Golan Heights. In Israel, the community holds a prominent position, with members in political, public, and military roles. According to the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, minorities in Syria face abductions, sexual violence, and arbitrary detention, highlighting their vulnerability.

The IDF's action underscores Israel's commitment to protecting the Druze amid rising regional tensions in West Asia and the Gulf, following targeted killings of Iranian officials. The operation demonstrates Israel's readiness to act decisively to safeguard minority communities and maintain strategic vigilance in southern Syria.

TEWARI PRAISES INDIA'S WEST ASIA APPROACH

NEW DELHI

Congress MP Manish Tewari praised the Union government's handling of the ongoing US-Israel-Iran conflict, stating India is taking the right approach by maintaining strategic balance. He emphasized that the conflict is not India's war, and a cautious, measured response safeguards national interests while avoiding direct involvement.

Tewari said multiple conflicts are unfolding in West Asia, and India has historically been a marginal player in the broader Middle East dynamics. "It's important to understand that there is not one war happening in West Asia. What is happening between Israel and Iran, with the United States taking a side, is not just about the Middle East dynamic alone," he noted.

He highlighted India's strategic autonomy, stressing that protecting the nation's energy security, including crude oil, natural gas, and fertilizers, is critical for both energy and food security. With a large diaspora of nearly 48 million people, India must navigate complex geopolitical pressures carefully. Tewari concluded that India's measured stance—favoring dialogue, restraint, and diplomacy—is prudent and helps protect national interests amid a volatile regional environment. The remarks contrast with Congress leader Rahul Gandhi questioning India's silence on the assassination of a foreign head of state, reflecting ongoing political debate over the government's policy in West Asia.

NHRC Extends Bus Safety Compliance Deadline

BENGALURU

The National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) has extended the deadline for implementing mandatory passenger safety measures in public transport vehicles across Karnataka to March 31, 2026. The extension applies to all regular buses, sleeper coaches, and All India Tourist buses registered in the State, as per Case No. 1834/90/0/2025, following the earlier order issued on January 5, 2026.

The Transport and Road Safety Department stated that the extension allows operators additional time to install safety systems in line with recommendations from the Central Institute of Road Transport (CIRT) and guidelines under Automotive Industry Standards AIS-052 and AIS-119. After March 31, strict enforcement will begin, with legal action against non-compliant operators. A final deadline for full compliance across all passenger buses is set for June 18, 2026.

Passenger safety has been a growing concern in India following multiple bus accidents. Rule 125-C of the Central Motor Vehicles Rules, 1989, mandates emergency exits, fire safety systems, improved seating, and structural integrity. The NHRC emphasised that safety is a fundamental right and directed the State to ensure timely compliance, aiming to reduce fatalities and improve overall commuter safety standards.

HIGH COURT COMFORT

Advocates seek relaxed summer dress code Karnataka

BENGALURU

With temperatures soaring unusually early this year, the Advocates' Association, Bengaluru has urged the High Court of Karnataka to relax mandatory dress code rules for lawyers across the State.

In a representation submitted to Chief Justice Justice Vibhu Bakhru, the Bar Association, Bengaluru President Vivek Subba Reddy highlighted that Karnataka is already experiencing intense summer conditions from the second week of March—earlier than the typical onset between the third and last weeks of the month.

Citing the prevailing heatwave-like conditions, the Association has requested exemption from wearing coats in all trial courts across Karnataka. It has proposed that the relaxation come into effect immediately, preferably from March 18, or at the latest from March 23, when courts reopen after the Ugadi festival.

The representation further noted that the situation is equally challenging in High Court benches at Bengaluru, Dharwad and Kalaburagi. Lawyers have found it "unbearable" to adhere to the traditional requirement of wearing gowns under the current weather conditions. Accordingly, the Association has sought exemption from wearing gowns in High Court benches as well. The proposed relaxation, the Association suggested, may remain in force until June 15, by which time the monsoon is expected to set in fully and bring relief from the heat. The Association has also requested the Chief Justice to direct the court registry to issue necessary notifications at the earliest in view of the health and comfort of advocates.

Idols, broken pots emerge from desilted Ulsoor lake

Deep desilting of Ulsoor Lake uncovers clay pot fragments, stone sculptures, and heaps of household waste debris

CH NEWSBENGALURU

Shards of clay pots and idols raised questions about their archaeological significance. An inspection by the department of archaeology on February 25 said most of the 14 sculptures discovered during the desilting process are modern. Experts said the idols may have been discarded into the lake during renovation or reconstruction of nearby temples. They do not hold significant historical value, according to Bengaluru Central City Corporation.

One Ganesha idol of 200-year vintage, has been handed over to the department for its likely antiquity value. The Rs 24-crore project aims to increase the lake's depth, improve water storage and raise groundwater table in the neighbourhood. The lake has 15 acres of wetland and the rest is primary waterbody. The lake was drained out in Jan and desilting started in February. Nearly 10 percent moisture remains in the desilted lakebed.The sight of the partially drained lake triggered reactions online, linking it to Bengaluru's ongoing water concerns.

Saying the previous desilting was done nearly 30 years ago and bunds needed to be repaired, Shivajinagar MLA Rizwan Arshad Khan said the desilting was essential to remove decades of sediment accumulation and restore the lake's capacity. The lake requires beautification too, he said.

Rajendra Cholan, Bengaluru Central City Corporation Commissioner, explained that the project would also help raise groundwater levels in surrounding areas. Removing the thick silt layer will allow the lake to store fresh rainwater more effectively in the coming seasons, Cholan said.

We cannot accurately measure the total volume of silt removed because its moisture content varies, an official part of the cleanup explained. As part of beautification, the lake will get a two-level walkway and its bunds will be strengthened. The walkway will provide citizens a safe and convenient path for walking, Cholan said. A bridge linking the lake to a nearby park is under construction. The neighbouring park will be developed with new plant species to enhance greenery and biodiversity. Officials noted the increased water depth could make a part of the lake suitable for training by National Disaster Response Force.

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

Explaining the astrological outlook for the year, Somayaji said Parabhava Samvatsara will be an Adhika Masa year with 13 months, and notably no eclipses will occur during the entire year. He clarified though Amavasya continues until 6.42am on March 19, there is no confusion and the entire day will be observed as Ugadi. He predicted that the IT industry will continue to maintain demand, and the impact of Artificial Intelligence (AI) on jobs may not be immediate, though some job losses are possible.

Manufacturing industries are also expected to increase their workforce. Somayaji said good rainfall across the country, including spells of excess rain, is likely and will boost agricultural production. Food grains and oilseeds are expected to record good output. However, sugar industries and sugarcane farmers may face some setbacks and conflicts during the year. According to him, prices of steel, cement, gold, silver and copper are likely to rise, while the share market is expected to gain strength, with several IPOs likely to succeed and the secondary market witnessing growth.

Industries such as pharmaceuticals, chemicals and mining, including iron ore, are expected to perform well. Engineering industries, including automotive, components and machinery manufacturing, may see a boost in production and exports. Domestic retail consumption is expected to remain strong, while exports could show mixed results. He said sectors such as hospitality, tourism and real estate are likely to witness a boom. India is also expected to attract higher foreign direct investment, while government monetisation activities may increase. Power production is expected to remain satisfactory and petroleum production and distribution may improve. However, Somayaji cautioned that the year could also witness severe winter, heavy rains and political clashes, with possibilities of communal tensions in parts of northern and western India. Bordering countries may continue to create disturbances, though India is expected to successfully counter them. He also noted the possibility of a major scam involving political leaders or bureaucrats and the demise of a prominent national leader, which could significantly influence national politics.

Overall, Somayaji said the Parabhava year indicates a bright and promising future for India, with growth expected in sectors such as dairy, animal feed, meat and leather exports.

Sringeri Sharada Peetham Dharmadhikari Daivajna KN Somayaji said Parabhava Nama Samvatsara, the Hindu New Year beginning on Ugadi on Thursday, indicates a bright and promising future for India.

CH NEWS, BENGALURU

Wearing a burqa and with his face concealed by a dupatta, a 21-year-old gained entry into a shop in HBR Layout and made away with high-value computer components worth Rs 80 lakh. The accused, Hemanth M's partner in crime was his 45-year-old father M Manjunath, a resident of T Channaiah Layout in Nagawara. The father-son duo has landed in the custody of Govindapura police. They fled with 444 RAM units and 279 SSDs from Nitish Computers on the night of March 14. Police recovered the entire haul from Manjunath's grocery shop. According to the complaint filed by shop owner G Raghu, he had shut his store around 1.40am on March 14.

When he returned at 11am the next day, he found the cupboard lock broken and Rs 2.4 lakh in cash missing, along with the electronic items. Govindpura Police Inspector PB Kiran and his team examined CCTV footage installed in the shop, which showed burqa-clad accused opening the shutter using a key and entering the shop at 2am. He first stole cash from the cabin, then took RAMs and hard disks packed in carton boxes, and fled in six minutes.

He wore gloves in a bid to prevent leaving fingerprints. Hemanth was arrested in Chanakya Layout, Nagawara, on March 15. He confessed to committing the theft with the help of his father, who was arrested subsequently.

Hemanth, who had completed his Second year PUC, was working as a technician in Raghu's shop but was sacked a month ago. His younger brother was also employed at the same shop. After gaining experience under Raghu, Hemanth had started his own computer service store. A few years ago, Raghu's financial situation was precarious, and he had lived as a tenant in Manjunath's house. Over time, he improved his circumstances, set up his own shop, bought a plot, and built a home. Given their close relationship, Raghu had even provided jobs to both of Manjunath's sons. However, after being dismissed, Hemanth and Manjunath reportedly turned against Raghu, disregarding his past support, and conspired to steal from him. According to police, Manjunath dropped Hemanth near the shop on their scooter and waited nearby. After stealing the computer components, the duo fled the scene on the same vehicle.

Hemanth was aware that Raghu used to keep the shop keys in his scooter's storage box. On March 13, he borrowed Raghu's scooter on the pretext of bringing an LPG gas cylinder, got duplicate keys made, and later used them to open the shop shutter, police said.

These videos are neither deepfakes nor edited versions, the panel said in its report to the state govt. Following this, the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms issued a notice to Rao, paving the way for a departmental inquiry against him. The videos featured an officer in police uniform engaging in indecent physical acts with two women. The videos were reportedly shot in 2016-17 inside the office of the Inspector General of Police (IGP) (Belagavi range).

While a section of the media pointed fingers at Rao as he had served as IGP (Belagavi range) earlier, the latter denied the allegations, claiming the videos were fabricated.As the issue threatened to snowball into a political controversy, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah suspended Rao, ordered a probe and formed a committee comprising IPS officials, headed by Additional Director General of Police R Hitendra, with Chetan Singh Rathore, CB Rishyanth and Kala Krishnaswamy as its other members.

Sources said the team submitted a 100-page report to the government, confirming that the video clips were genuine. LITTLE BIRDS, BIG MESSAGE

MYSURU UNITES FOR WORLD SPARROW DAY

MYSURU

On a bright morning in Bogadi, the gentle flutter of wings and the hopeful chatter of nature lovers filled the air as People for Animals (PFA), Mysuru, celebrated World Sparrow Day with a heartfelt mission — to bring back the tiny companions that once defined everyday life.

Held at the PFA shelter, the awareness programme titled "Save Sparrows" transformed a quiet space into a lively hub of compassion, creativity, and conservation. This year's theme, "Save Sparrows – A Call to Protect Our Disappearing Urban Companions," struck a deep emotional chord with participants, reminding them of a time when sparrows were a constant presence in courtyards, rooftops, and windowsills.

Today, that familiar chirping has faded into an unsettling silence.

Once an inseparable part of urban life, sparrows are now rapidly disappearing due to shrinking green spaces, pollution, and changing lifestyles. Recognizing this alarming decline, the event aimed to inspire citizens to take small but meaningful steps to restore the fragile balance of urban biodiversity.

As the programme unfolded between 11:30 AM and 1:30 PM, visitors were welcomed into a series of engaging and impactful activities. One of the highlights was the distribution of eco-friendly sparrow nest boxes, carefully designed to provide safe breeding spaces for the birds within city homes. Families eagerly collected these boxes, many expressing their excitement to "invite sparrows back" into their lives.

Adding to the initiative, water bowls were distributed to help birds and animals cope with the rising urban heat. Volunteers demonstrated how even a simple act like placing a bowl of water on a balcony or terrace could become a lifeline for thirsty creatures struggling in concrete landscapes.

A noted pranic healing trainer, B.Vaibhav was the chief guest over the function, and he explained the importance of the sparrows in balancing the environment.

Blending innovation with awareness, a unique sparrow-themed educational board game drew the attention of children and adults alike. Created by Kokila Ramesh Jain, the game turned learning into an enjoyable experience, teaching participants about the challenges sparrows face and the importance of protecting them. Laughter, curiosity, and thoughtful discussions filled the space as families gathered around the game, rediscovering their connection with nature.

The programme also included the planting of saplings, symbolizing hope and renewal. Each sapling planted was more than just greenery — it was a promise to create safer habitats and greener surroundings for birds and other urban wildlife.

Speaking on the occasion, Savitha Nagabhushan from People for Animals, Mysuru, emphasized the deeper significance of the initiative. "Sparrows are not just birds; they are indicators of the health of our environment. Their disappearance is a warning we cannot ignore. Through this initiative, we hope to inspire every citizen to take small, compassionate steps because even placing a bowl of water or a nest box can bring life back to our surroundings," she said.

Her words resonated with the gathering, reinforcing the idea that conservation begins at home and thrives through collective effort.

As the event concluded, participants left not just with nest boxes and saplings, but with a renewed sense of responsibility. The chirping of sparrows may have faded, but in Mysuru, a determined effort has begun to bring it back.

This World Sparrow Day, People for Animals Mysuru didn't just host an event — they sparked a movement. A movement that calls upon every citizen, student, and nature lover to act with compassion, because saving sparrows is ultimately about preserving the delicate harmony of urban life.

" Save the Endangered Sparrow Population for Future Generations"

MYSURU

Former Zoo Authority Chairman L.R. Mahadevaswamy urged citizens to protect sparrows, which are on the verge of extinction, and ensure their survival for future generations.

Speaking at a World Sparrow Day celebration organized by the KMPK Trust in front of Maharaja Grounds in the city on Friday, he said that sparrows are rapidly disappearing in recent times. If sparrows survive, they can experience a healthier environment. " We grew up alongside sparrows, and maintaining ecological balance is very important. Not just sparrows, but many bird species are facing extinction".

The event was inaugurated by placing water bowls for birds and providing them with food and water.

He pointed out that the increasing use of pesticides in agriculture is toxic and has contributed to the death of sparrows. Saving sparrows means saving the environment. Humans alone should not survive—we must create conditions where all living beings can thrive.

Mahadevaswamy noted that there are more than 25 species of sparrows, but their population is now declining. "Human activities have become a major threat. The lack of a suitable habitat is a key reason for their decline. It is our responsibility to conserve sparrows for the next generation," he said.

Recalling the past, he said sparrows were once commonly seen during childhood, but today they are rarely spotted. Many bird species, including sparrows, are now on the brink of extinction. Feeding birds should not be limited to just one day. It is important to provide water and food to birds every day. People should install water bowls at their homes to support birds. The increasing number of vehicles, more than population growth, is contributing to environmental degradation and threatening small animals and birds. "Environmental protection is the responsibility of every citizen. Birds and animals often give early signs of climate changes, so we must coexist harmoniously and provide them food and water, especially during harsh summer conditions," he said.

On the occasion, placards with slogans were displayed to spread awareness, including:

"Let us save sparrows for ecological balance" , "Protect animals and birds from the scorching summer heat" and "Create awareness to conserve the disappearing sparrow species"

Among those present were former member Lakshmidevi, BJP Mahila Morcha President Renuka Raj, former corporator Jagadish, KMPK Trust President Vikram Iyengar, anchor Ajay Shastri, S.N. Rajesh, Byrathi Lingaraju, Chakrapani, Suchindra, and others.

Karnataka leadership drama pauses, power play takes political breather

SHYAM SUNDAR VATTAM

The simmering leadership tussle in Karnataka has hit a temporary pause, as the Indian National Congress high command shifts its full focus to crucial Assembly elections across five states. For now, the high-stakes battle for the Chief Minister's chair has been pushed to the backburner, buying time—and perhaps relief—for the incumbent.

At the heart of the political chessboard lies Deputy Chief Minister D. K. Shivakumar, whose supporters have been increasingly vocal about elevating him to the top post. The current Chief Minister, Siddaramaiah, continues to hold firm, even as speculation swirls in party corridors.

Shivakumar, popularly known as the "Kanakapura Bande" (boulder of Kanakapura), has made no secret of his ambitions. He has reportedly conveyed his claim to the party leadership multiple times. However, with the Congress leadership in Delhi preoccupied with electoral battles, there is little room for internal reshuffling in Karnataka at this moment.

The party's central leadership is treading cautiously. A leadership change at this juncture could prove politically risky, as not all MLAs are aligned with Shivakumar's elevation. Internal divisions could weaken the party's unity ahead of the 2028 Assembly elections, where anti-incumbency is already looming large. Adding to the complexity is the government's heavy expenditure—nearly ₹60,000 crore—on its flagship "five guarantees" scheme. While aimed at consolidating voter support, these welfare measures have not fully assured leaders of electoral success in the next polls. In a strategic move to divert Shivakumar's attention, the high command assigned him responsibilities in Assam, where the party faces an uphill battle. Though he has made a few visits, the assignment appears more like a political balancing act than a genuine power shift. Similarly, he was tasked with safeguarding Congress MLAs from Odisha amid fears of poaching—an assignment he handled effectively, despite some setbacks during Rajya Sabha cross-voting.

For the Congress, the immediate priority is clear: win electoral ground elsewhere rather than stir internal storms in Karnataka. With the Election Commission of India announcing poll dates, senior leaders are now immersed in campaign mode and are unlikely to revisit Karnataka's leadership question before early May.

For Siddaramaiah, this lull offers a much-needed breather. But for Shivakumar, the wait could feel like an eternity—over a month of political uncertainty as he eyes the top post. Until the dust settles on the election battlefield, Karnataka's leadership saga remains in cold storage, its next chapter waiting to unfold.

NEELAMANGALA

In a tragic incident near the Ganesh temple in the town, a woman lost her life after her saree got entangled in the wheel of a moving motorcycle. The shocking accident has once again highlighted the importance of safety precautions for two-wheeler riders and pillion passengers.

According to initial reports, the incident occurred when the woman was travelling as a pillion rider on a motorcycle near the Ganesh temple, a usually busy area with steady traffic movement. While the bike was in motion, the loose end of her saree (pallu) accidentally got caught in the rear wheel of the vehicle. INDIA EVACUATES CITIZENS FROM IRAN AMID RISING TENSIONS

India is continuing its evacuation efforts as citizens stranded in Iran steadily return home through neighbouring countries.

The Ministry of External Affairs on Friday said that more Indians have been evacuated using land routes via Armenia and Azerbaijan, with the operation still in progress. MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal confirmed that 913 Indian nationals have crossed into these neighbouring countries with assistance from Indian embassies, and many of them have already safely reached India.

He also informed that all 284 Indian pilgrims who were earlier stranded in Iran have now returned home. The MEA control room has received only a small number of requests for help, mostly concerning Indians working aboard merchant ships.

Additional Secretary Aseem R Mahajan said that six Indian nationals have died, while one person is still missing amid the ongoing tensions in West Asia.

Indian missions in Saudi Arabia, Oman, Iraq and United Arab Emirates are actively coordinating with local authorities to trace the missing individual and facilitate the return of mortal remains of the deceased.

Officials further noted that travel conditions across the Gulf region are gradually improving, with an increase in the number of flights operating. Since February 28, nearly three lakh passengers have successfully returned to India from the region, reflecting steady progress in evacuation and travel arrangements.

Jaishankar Meets Bangladesh Envoy To Boost Ties

NEW DELHI

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar met Riaz Hamidullah in New Delhi on Friday to review and strengthen bilateral relations between India and Bangladesh. The discussion focused on enhancing cooperation and building closer ties across key sectors.

The Ministry of External Affairs stated that India continues to assist neighbouring countries, including Bangladesh, in meeting their energy requirements while also managing its domestic needs. MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said India has received requests for energy supplies from Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Maldives and other nations, and has been providing diesel to Bangladesh since 2007 through various channels. He noted that while India is continuing its support, it is also taking into account its refining capacity and fuel availability. At the same time, supply of LPG remains a concern due to disruptions linked to the West Asia situation. The government is prioritising domestic consumers before addressing commercial demand.

Earlier, India's High Commissioner to Bangladesh, Pranay Verma, held discussions with leaders of the Bangladesh Nationalist Party government to boost cooperation. Talks focused on areas such as rural development, local governance, and economic progress.

Both countries agreed to deepen engagement in sectors like agriculture, cooperatives, and grassroots empowerment. Officials also underlined the importance of strong people-to-people connections and shared history, especially the bonds formed during the 1971 Bangladesh Liberation War, reaffirming their commitment to mutual respect and continued cooperation.

6 Indians Dead, Flights Resume Amid Gulf Crisis Situation

NEW DELHI

Six Indian nationals have lost their lives and one person is still missing following separate incidents in the Gulf region, even as evacuation efforts continue.

The Ministry of External Affairs on Friday said the incidents are linked to the ongoing situation in West Asia. Additional Secretary Aseem R Mahajan said Indian missions in Saudi Arabia, Oman, Iraq and United Arab Emirates are in constant touch with local authorities to locate the missing individual and facilitate the return of mortal remains of those who died.

From the UAE, around 90

flights are expected to operate, while limited flight services are also continuing from Oman and Saudi Arabia. With the partial reopening of airspace in Qatar, some commercial flights have resumed.

Officials said these steps are being taken to ensure the safe and smooth return of Indian nationals despite ongoing disruptions in the region.

The minister said the summit would help achieve the vision of "Viksit Bharat 2047" and underlined the role of the power sector in economic growth and infrastructure development. Russia urges ceasefire, criticises US Israel Gulf actions

Russia has urged an immediate halt to fighting in the Persian Gulf, warning of rising regional instability

MOSCOW

Russia has expressed deep concern over the ongoing conflict in the Persian Gulf, calling for an immediate end to hostilities. In a statement, the Russian Foreign Ministry described the situation as unprovoked aggression by the United States and Israel against Iran. It warned that continued fighting could worsen damage to energy facilities and other key infrastructure across Iran and neighbouring Arab countries.

Moscow stressed that stopping military actions by Washington and Tel Aviv is essential for any progress toward peace. It said an immediate ceasefire would be the first step to reduce tensions and prevent further escalation in the region.Russia also offered to work with global and regional partners to find a diplomatic solution. It said countries like China and Turkiye could help support peace efforts through dialogue and cooperation. The ministry highlighted the need for long-term stability based on mutual respect and balanced interests of all nations involved.

The statement also referred to a proposal by Oman's Foreign Minister, Badr bin Hamad Al Busaidi, which called for inclusive regional dialogue. Russia said the proposal matches its own vision of building a security framework in the Middle East based on cooperation and trust.

The conflict began on February 28 with a joint US-Israel air campaign and has since expanded across the region. Increasing military activity and attacks on energy hubs have raised fears of a wider global crisis.

China urges pause in West Asia conflict

BEIJING

China has called for an immediate halt to the ongoing West Asia conflict, warning of serious global economic consequences as the crisis enters its 21st day.Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Lin Jian said the situation is rapidly worsening and affecting not just the region but the entire world. He noted that the conflict is damaging key sectors such as energy, finance, trade and shipping, which are vital to global stability.

China stressed that military action is not a solution and may only deepen tensions. Lin said past experiences show that armed conflict leads to more hostility rather than peace. He urged all parties involved to immediately "press the pause button" on military operations to prevent further escalation.

Beijing also reaffirmed its commitment to diplomatic efforts. It said China is ready to work with other countries to help bring about a ceasefire and restore peace in the region at the earliest.

The conflict began on February 28 with a joint US-Israel offensive against Iran and has since expanded across multiple fronts. The situation intensified after the death of Iran's Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, following which his son Mojtaba Khamenei took over leadership.

Rising tensions have put pressure on major global energy routes, especially the Strait of Hormuz. Disruptions in oil and gas supplies and shipping activities are raising concerns about long-term economic stability worldwide.

Netanyahu denies death rumours amid online conspiracy claims

JERUSALEM

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu rejects viral death rumours, but conspiracy theories continue spreading online despite repeated public appearances and official clarifications

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has dismissed rumours about his death, but speculation continues to spread widely on social media platforms.

The claims persisted even after Netanyahu addressed them during a press briefing on Thursday. Speaking in English, he said, "I'm alive, and you're all witnesses," while rejecting the rumours as fake news. He then provided updates on ongoing military operations, marking his second press conference since the conflict with Iran began on February 28.

The rumours first gained attention after his March 12 televised address, when some users alleged the video was created using artificial intelligence. They pointed to visual details such as an extra finger and unusual movements. Even after the latest press conference, similar claims resurfaced, with edited clips circulating online.Some users highlighted visuals like his shirt appearing from inside his sleeves, calling it proof of manipulation. Others questioned background elements such as curtain movements. However, a full review of the official broadcast shows these moments were natural and not unusual.

Reliance Jio Leads Subscriber Growth In Telecom Sector

NEW DELHI

Reliance Jio continued to record strong subscriber additions and maintained its leadership in the home broadband segment. The report said the telecom industry showed steady recovery in January 2026, with net wireless subscriber additions rising to 2.4 million. This marks an increase from 1.5 million in December 2025, 0.9 million in November, and 0.4 million in October.

Among operators, Reliance Jio Infocomm added 1.6 million subscribers, while Bharti Airtel added 1.2 million and Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited gained 0.4 million users. In contrast, Vodafone Idea lost 0.7 million subscribers during the same period.

Jio's net wireless subscriber addition stood at 1.6 million in January, slightly lower than 1.8 million in December. Its active subscriber base, measured through Visitor Location Register (VLR), remained stable at 98.3 per cent.

In the home broadband segment, including fibre and 5G services, Jio continued to see strong growth, adding 0.78 million subscribers in January. This was mainly driven by the expansion of JioAirFiber services. In the 5G fixed wireless access segment, the company added 0.25 million users and held a leading market share of 70.9 per cent.

As per Telecom Regulatory Authority of India data, Jio remained the largest telecom provider with 503.57 million wireless subscribers.

WEST ASIA CRISIS POSES RISK TO ENERGY MARKETS

NEW DELHI

The ongoing West Asia crisis has not yet caused a major market correction, but risks may rise if disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz continue.

The report said markets have remained largely stable despite rising geopolitical tensions in the region. A key reason for this resilience is the continued flow of energy supplies through the Strait of Hormuz, which is crucial for Asian countries. Around 85 per cent of energy shipments through the route are meant for Asia, with China, India, and South Asia accounting for nearly 60 per cent of the total.

The report noted that Iran allowing selective passage of ships has helped ease immediate supply concerns and prevented panic in global markets. However, it warned that the situation remains uncertain, especially for energy-importing countries like India.

Jefferies highlighted that any prolonged disruption or closure of the Strait could have serious economic consequences. Since economic growth is closely linked to energy consumption, supply disruptions could directly impact growth in major Asian economies.

The report also pointed out that investors have recently treated geopolitical tensions as temporary setbacks, often seeing them as opportunities to invest rather than reasons to exit markets.

While current conditions suggest short-term stability, the report stressed that risks could increase sharply if tensions escalate further or lead to a sustained blockade. Such a scenario may push up oil prices, increase inflation, and slow economic growth across Asia, including India.

Retail Office Demand Pushes NCR Rentals Higher

DELHI-NCR

Retail rents across Delhi-NCR are rising steadily as demand from both retailers and office workers strengthens, according to recent market studies. The shift is driven not just by higher rents, but by growing willingness among brands to pay for prime locations supported by strong consumer footfall.

A report by Cushman & Wakefield showed that retail rents on key high streets increased between 2 and 14 per cent in 2025. Areas like Khan Market saw around 8 per cent growth, while Gurugram's Galleria Market recorded nearly 14 per cent rise.Experts say the recovery in office markets is playing a major role.

STAR BOWLER KEY TO B'LURU TITLE DEFENSE

RCB's title defense faces uncertainty as Josh Hazlewood's injury sidelines the star pacer for the IPL 2026 start

NEW DELHI

As the cricket world gears up for the new season, former captain Faf du Plessis has sent a clear message: Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) needs Josh Hazlewood to succeed. With the 2026 tournament fast approaching, fans are anxious about the fitness of the Australian star.

Hazlewood was a hero during RCB's winning run last year, but a stubborn hamstring injury has kept him off the field since November. The 35-year-old even missed the recent T20 World Cup because his recovery is taking longer than expected. Cricket Australia is currently managing his workload, and he is confirmed to miss the first few matches this season.

Du Plessis explained that Hazlewood is irreplaceable because he performs under pressure. Whether it is taking early wickets or bowling the difficult final overs, his absence leaves a "massive hole" in the lineup. The former skipper noted that the team's success usually goes hand in hand with having the big Aussie available to lead the attack.

Playing at Bengaluru's home ground is notoriously tough for bowlers because the pitch favors batters so much. Du Plessis pointed out that experience is the only way to survive there. He also mentioned that having a top-tier spinner, like Krunal Pandya, is the secret ingredient RCB needs to stay on top.

RCB will begin defending their hard-earned title on March 28 against Sunrisers Hyderabad. All eyes remain on the training camp, hoping Hazlewood returns to help the team keep their crown.

India hosts Kazakhstan in major hockey push

NEW DELHI

India hosts Kazakhstan's men's hockey team for a training camp, boosting skills, confidence, and international ties ahead of the Asian Games Qualifiers in Japan

India is proving its role as a leader in world hockey by hosting the Kazakhstan men's team for a special training camp. The visiting side has spent the last ten days at the Sports Authority of India center in Sonipat, Haryana, sharpening their skills before the high-stakes Asian Games Qualifiers.

The camp has given the Kazakh players a chance to use world-class turf and test themselves against tough local teams. For a team ranked 55th in the world, this experience is about more than just practice; it is about building the confidence needed to compete with Asia's best. Coach Olga Urmanova noted that the friendly matches have already helped her players grow and adapt to a faster style of play. Kazakhstan is on a steady rise, having recently finished fourth in the AHF Cup. Now, they face a challenging path to the Asian Games, with matches lined up against teams like Oman, Thailand, and Indonesia. They hope this intensive stint in India will be the secret to securing their spot in the main event in Japan.

Hockey India officials believe these exchange programs do more than just improve gameplay. By opening their doors to neighboring nations, they are strengthening international ties and inspiring a new generation of players. As the qualifiers approach, fans are eager to see if this "Made in India" preparation helps Kazakhstan make its mark on the global stage.

India's U20 women's football team arrives in Thailand, aiming for Asian Cup success and a World Cup 2026 berth

Indian young tigresses chasing World Cup dream

BANGKOK

India's Under-20 women's football team has touched down in Thailand, carrying the hopes of a nation as they prepare for the AFC U20 Women's Asian Cup. This marks a historic return for the "Young Tigresses," who have qualified for this prestigious continental tournament for the first time in twenty years.

The 24-player squad arrived in Bangkok to begin a two-week acclimatization period. Adjusting to the local heat and humidity will be vital before they face a challenging Group C. Their journey kicks off against powerhouse Japan on April 2, followed by high-stakes matches against Australia and Chinese Taipei.

The stakes could not be higher. This tournament serves as the official gateway to the FIFA U20 Women's World Cup 2026 in Poland. To book their ticket to the world stage, India must finish among the top four teams in the competition. It is a steep mountain to climb, but the team comes prepared.

Under head coach Joakim Alexandersson, the squad has undergone intensive training camps in Bengaluru, Kolkata, and even Sweden. Alexandersson believes the international exposure gained during their European tour has given the players the tactical edge needed to compete with Asia's elite.

While the coach must soon trim the roster to a final 23-member squad, the current group shows a strong, balanced mix of talent across all positions. For these young athletes, the next few weeks represent a golden opportunity to prove that Indian women's football belongs on the global map.

India to host historic world athletics event

NEW DELHI

In a landmark moment for Indian sports, World Athletics has officially announced that India will host the 2028 World Athletics Indoor Championships. The prestigious event is set to take place in Odisha from March 3 to 5, marking the very first time a global indoor track and field championship will be held on Indian soil.

The decision was finalized during a high-level council meeting in Torun, where sports leaders mapped out the future of international athletics. Alongside India's selection, Astana was named as the host for the 2030 edition. World Athletics President Sebastian Coe praised the move, noting that bringing such elite competitions to emerging markets like India is key to growing the sport globally.

Odisha has fast become India's sporting capital, having successfully hosted the Asian Athletics Championships and invested heavily in world-class infrastructure. Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi hailed the announcement as a proud moment for the nation, believing it will inspire a new generation of local athletes to dream of Olympic glory.

The global spotlight won't just be on India; the council also selected Hefei, China, to host the 2028 Race Walking Team Championships. Experts view these choices as a strategic shift toward expanding the reach of athletics across Asia. For India, this championship represents more than just a three-day meet—it is a massive leap forward in its journey to becoming a premier destination for the world's greatest sporting spectacles.

Gautam Gambhir battles AI deepfakes in court

NEW DELHI

Indian cricket head coach Gautam Gambhir has taken a stand against the "weaponization" of his identity, moving the Delhi High Court to stop the spread of AI-generated deepfakes. The former World Cup hero is seeking an urgent ban on the unauthorized use of his name, voice, and likeness across social media and e-commerce platforms.

During a hearing, Justice Jyoti Singh noted minor discrepancies in the case documents and postponed the matter to a future date. Gambhir's legal team, led by Advocate Jai Anant Dehadrai, highlighted a series of "disturbing" videos. These include a fabricated resignation announcement that went viral with 2.9 million views and another clip falsely showing him assaulting a player. Perhaps most shocking was an image where Gambhir's face was morphed onto that of Mahatma Gandhi.

The petition argues that these AI tools—including face-swapping and voice cloning—are being used to spread misinformation and generate illicit revenue. Gambhir is not just asking for the removal of this content; he is seeking $₹2.5$ crore in damages. The lawsuit names 16 defendants, ranging from anonymous social media accounts to tech giants like Meta, X, and Google. "This is not just about personal hurt," Gambhir stated, emphasizing that it is a fight for dignity in the digital age.

Mooney shines as Australia takes series lead

KINGSTOWN

Australia's women's cricket team launched their Caribbean tour with a commanding 43-run victory over the West Indies. The win gives the world champions a 1-0 lead in the three-match T20 international series, proving once again why they are the team to beat on the global stage.

Batting first, the visitors put up a formidable total of 164 for 6. The star of the show was Beth Mooney, who played a brilliant, calculated innings of 79 runs off just 55 balls. Her knock, filled with seven boundaries and two powerful sixes, anchored the Australian effort. Veteran all-rounder Ellyse Perry provided steady support with a brisk 36, ensuring the scoreboard kept ticking over despite some clever bowling from Deandra Dottin, who claimed three wickets.

The chase proved too steep for the home side. West Indies struggled to find their rhythm as the required run rate climbed steadily. While opener Qiana Joseph fought hard for her 45 runs, the rest of the batting lineup crumbled under pressure. Australia's Alana King led a disciplined bowling attack, taking three key wickets to keep the Windies restricted to 121 for 6 by the end of their 20 overs.

Mooney was deservingly named Player of the Match for her batting masterclass. The two teams will meet again at the same venue on March 22. West Indies will need a much stronger batting performance if they hope to level the series and keep their hopes alive against a dominant Australian side.

Ronnie O'Sullivan makes history with record 153

YUSHAN

Snooker legend Ronnie O'Sullivan has once again rewritten the record books, crafting the highest break in professional history. The 50-year-old seven-time world champion stunned the crowd at the World Open by scoring a massive 153 in his quarterfinal match against Ryan Day. Known as "The Rocket," O'Sullivan surpassed the previous record of 148 held by Jamie Burnett for over 20 years. While a "perfect" break is typically 147, O'Sullivan took advantage of a "free ball" after a foul by his opponent. This allowed him to pot an extra ball before clearing the 15 reds and all the colors. He finished just two points shy of the theoretical 155 maximum, an almost impossible feat in pro play. The historic moment came in the very first frame and set the tone for a dominant 5-0 victory. After the match, a beaming O'Sullivan took to social media to thank his fans, calling it a "pretty cool moment" in his long career.

Pant says new coach boosts Lucknow bowlers

NEW DELHI

Lucknow Super Giants (LSG) captain Rishabh Pant is banking on a legendary coaching mind to spark a title-winning season. Speaking ahead of IPL 2026, Pant praised the arrival of bowling expert Bharat Arun, credited with transforming India's national pace attack, for bringing instant "purity and energy" to the LSG camp.

After a disappointing bowling display last season, the franchise moved quickly to secure Arun's services. Pant, who previously worked with the coach during his time with Team India, noted that the veteran's ability to build trust is already paying off. The skipper explained that the bowlers now feel comfortable opening up about their struggles, a vital step in creating a more confident and lethal unit.

Beyond the technical drills, Pant is focused on the mental side of the game. He stressed that the modern IPL environment has become too stressful, urging his teammates to rediscover the "childlike joy" of playing. "If you don't enjoy yourself, you can't give your best," Pant remarked, highlighting the importance of a relaxed dressing room where players treat the sport as a passion rather than just work.

On a personal level, Pant confirmed he is in a "good space" both physically and mentally after recovering from a side strain. As he prepares to lead LSG in their season opener against Delhi Capitals on April 1 at the Ekana Stadium, his message is clear: hard work and a happy heart are the keys to the trophy.

Indian football scores major global technical win

NEW DELHI

In a major boost for the sport, the All India Football Federation (AIFF) has been awarded the prestigious "Triple-A" Certificate by the Asian Football Confederation (AFC). This top-tier recognition, announced at the AFC Technical Summit, places India among an elite group of just 12 nations recognized for their world-class football development systems. The "Triple-A" standard stands for Analysis, Advice, and Accreditation. To earn it, India's football structure underwent a rigorous review by experts, including AFC Technical Director Andy Roxburgh. The evaluation covered everything from grassroots programs and youth academies to the growth of women's football and futsal. This certificate proves that India's coaching and training methods now meet the highest international standards.

One of the most exciting benefits of this achievement is the "global passport" it gives to Indian coaches. Thanks to a partnership between the AFC and UEFA, coaching licenses earned in India will now be officially recognized by European football associations.

Rain halts thrilling Indian open Polo match

A sudden downpour stole the spotlight at the Indian Open Polo Championship, forcing a high-stakes match to end without a result. The clash between Jindal Panther and Jaipur Optiemus Achievers was cut short at the historic Jaipur Polo Grounds, leaving nearly 1,000 rain-soaked fans wanting more.

The game started with explosive energy despite the gray skies. Jaipur Optiemus Achievers took an early lead, thanks to sharp goals from Alejo Aramburu and Sawai Padmanabh Singh. While Jindal Panther struggled initially, they mounted a spirited comeback in the third chukker, slicing through the defense to close the scoring gap.

The momentum swung back and forth as the match progressed. Sawai Padmanabh Singh continued to dazzle the crowd, firing in two more goals during the fourth chukker to keep the Achievers ahead. However, as the fifth chukker wrapped up, the weather took a turn for the worse. The heavy rain transformed the prestigious field into a slippery hazard.

For the safety of both the elite athletes and their horses, officials made the difficult call to stop the play before the final round. Team owner Naveen Jindal explained that while the competition is fierce, protecting the welfare of the animals and players is the top priority.
